

THIRD YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1894.

ONE CENT.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—FAIR;
Blue—RAIN or SNOW;
With Black above—TWO WARMER GROW.
If Black beneath—COLDER will be;
Unless Black is shown—no change we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

A LIFE LESSON.

I used to argue and debate from morning until night, Everybody else was wrong and I alone was right;
But now I've learned a wrinkle, and wherever I may be,
I always drop the subject when

I Find I Can't Agree.

One day at school a boy about as tall again as I Got arguing, and very soon he blackened up my eye;
So I came to the conclusion after being licked, you see,
That it's best to drop the subject when

You Find You Can't Agree.

As years passed by I fell in love with Aramand Brown;
I found she loved another chap the other end of town,
So when she went and married him instead of marrying me, I wisely dropped the subject when

We Couldn't Both Agree.

But other fish were in the sea and shortly I was wed,
And ever since my wish has been to be defunct and dead;
My wife, whenever I argue, just lays me
"cross" her knee
And spansks this servile subject till

With Her I Quite Agree.

One day I took a hatchet and hit her on her head,
The hatchet hit so hard that the next day she was dead;
And the hangman argued wisely and earned a handsome fee
By "dropping" me to glory when

We Couldn't Quite Agree.

St. Peter met me kindly, though he hadn't much to say, But took me by the shoulders and pointed t'other way;
Said he: "Look here, now, sonny, it's a rule we have, you see,
To drop the subjects down below

With Whom We Can't Agree.

This elevator makes no stop!

IT'S SO IF IT'S IN
LEDGER.

THE ladies should not fail to see Barkley's offerings at half value prices in Wells and Hand Turned Shoes.

CHARLES D. PEARCE of Louisville gave a colored employe $20 to pay a bill, and the coin invested the amount in craps.

HARRY DRESSER of the Sixth Ward is dangerously ill with brain fever. He was some better today but is still in an alarming condition.

JOSEPH BARRETT, Jr., was killed by falling slate in his father's coal mine at Kilgore. A colored man who was near by was perhaps fatally injured.

RUFUS DRYDEN was found guilty of a breach of the peace in the Police Court yesterday afternoon and for such conduct paid a fine of $10 and costs.

THE C. and O. is no small item in the makeup of Huntington, W. Va., as it was estimated that on its last visit the pay car left not less than $35,000 at that city.

THE stockholders of the Adams, Brown and Lewis County Fair Association will meet at Manchester Monday, March 5th, at 1 p. m., for the purpose of electing officers.

KATE MARSHALL of Morantburg, widow of William Marshall, has been granted a pension at the rate of $3 per month from December 28th, 1893, the date of her husband's death.

JOHN C. ADAMSON has been stepping unusually high for the past thirty six hours, and all the clerks in town have been busy showing the new lines of ladies' dress goods.

THERE will be services in the Presbyterian Church, Mayslick, by E. J. Baird of Londonderry, Ireland, now a student of Central University, Richmond, Ky.
[When?—ED. LEDGER.]

ANNUAL roll call at the Christian Church Sunday morning, March 4th.
Every member is urged to be present.
Those absent from the city or ill should make the fact known through some friend.

It is now pretty well settled that none of the railroads in Kentucky will make extensions this year. Contractors have given up all hope of getting any work until 1895, and the prospects are not very flattering then.

THE John A. Gano farm, adjacent to Centerville, on the pike midway between Georgetown and Paris, containing 290 acres, was sold publicly on Thursday last and purchased by J. W. Ferguson of Paris at $73 65 per acre.

IN the Police Court yesterday William Woods plead guilty to a breach of the peace and was fined $5 and costs.
Charles Simpson plead guilty to using abusive language and got a dose of $1 and costs. Both fines were paid.

HARVEY ELAM is clearing a ten-acre field on top of one of the highest hills in Greenup county for a peach orchard. It will take 2,000 trees. He has great faith in his enterprise, and says he will demonstrate to his neighbors that the lands, which have in the past been considered almost worthless, are the most valuable lands in that section of Kentucky.

THERE is a man living within three miles of Flemingsburg, who, it is claimed, recently boasted that he had never bought a book or subscribed for a paper during his lifetime. If this item should reach the eye of a bunko, confidence or gold brick man we would advise him to come this way at once. Such men are usually fine subjects.

BRO. MARSH, just listen to this "howl" from The Ashland News:

Just now the employees of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad are in a most unenviable position, and the general condition of the minds of the working forces is equally perturbed. The cause of all this is the threatened 10 per cent. reduction in case the Wilson Bill is passed.
The men have already submitted to one reduction, and

THE Russell Station which has hitherto been a part of the Cincinnati Division of the C. and O. Railway, under the management of Superintendent George W.
Lewis, has been changed to the Huntington Division, and is now in charge of local Superintendent H. C.
Boughton, who has also the management of the ferry and transfer business at that point, the river superintendent having been dispensed with some time ago.

JAMES CLARK, very bad colored man, was arrested by Marshal Kirk Elder for attempting to enter the room of Miss Harriet Sandifer at Perryville. The tough resisted and the Marshal shot him five times. He will die.

JOHN and James Long and Hiram Hopper were arrested at Winchester for impersonating United States Marshals.
They had arrested Oresth Goff, colored, for selling liquor, and attempted to take him to Mt. Sterling. Instead, they are likely to go to Sing Sing.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

J. A. Mitchell was a recent visitor in Ashland.

H. Duke Watson was in Ashland a day or so since.

J. Davy Dye made a business pilgrimage in Ashland.

John Duley yesterday visited his parents at Tilton.

Miss Lizzie Pumpelly of Augusta is visiting friends here.

Miss Annie Waltz is visiting Miss Marcia Dickey at Flemingsburg.

Mrs. E. F. William has returned home after a pleasant visit at Newport.

Mrs. Dr. J. H. Samuel visited Mrs. C.
D. Armstrong of Flemingsburg this week.

Mrs. J. C. Newcomb of Ripley is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B.
Mathews.

George W. Davis, one of Mt. Carmel's enterprising merchants, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Samantha Johnson of Flemings-burg is a guest of Miss Jennie Morford this week.

W. G. Brunner and J. A. Mogue of Covington were the guests of Harry Wadsworth yesterday.

after a pleasant visit to Mrs. J. W.
Wells of East Second street.

Mrs. R. H. Dodson has returned to her home at New Richmond, O., after a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. William Clinger.

Mrs. Lloyd Watson returned last evening from Charleston, W. Va., where she attended the marriage of Miss Katie Noyes.

Off for Ashland.

The members of Maysville Commemory No. 10, K. T., who left last night for Ashland to conduct the funeral of the late Judge W. C. Ireland were W. C.
Miner, E. C.; E. A. Robinson, Frank S.
Owens, Garrett S. Wall, John L. Whitaker, R. L. Browning, J. D. Dye, R. P.
Jenkins, W. B. Grant, John C. Lovel, J.
L. Browning and Thomas Y. Nesbitt.

IN HOT HASTE.

A Mounted Posse Pursues Elopers
From Minerva.

The following special from Ripley appeared in The Cincinnati Post this morning. It explains itself:

Great excitement prevailed here this morning on account of the appearance of a troop of horsemen from Kentucky, who were in hot pursuit of an eloping couple.

William Griwston, 28 a married man and farmer, living near Menerva, Ky., eloped yesterday with Miss Francis Jury, a prepossessing blonde of 16.

The couple crossed the river above here this morning, and it is supposed that Cincinnati is their ultimate destination.

The girl's brother organized a party and came after them in hot pursuit. Griwston left a wife and two children, and his neighbors will take summary vengeance on him if captured.

The lady wore a brown-striped dress, brown hat and black cloak. She is good-looking and remarkably well-developed for her age.

The Minerva populace is highly excited and threatens violence to Griwston if they can lay hands on him.

TO DYE A FAST BLACK.

ANY WOMAN CAN GET A RICH COLOR THAT WILL NOT FADE.

Three Special Diamond Dyes for Black—Home-Dyeing a Pleasure With Them—Save Expense and Delay of Sending Goods to the Dyer—A New Dress for Ten Cents.

The fast black diamond dyes save thousands of dollars to thrifty housewives. There are three of them—for cotton, for wool, for silk and feathers—and they have all made to look like new many a cloak, suit, dress, jacket, or feather that would have otherwise gone into the rag bag.

Goods colored with these dyes will not crock or fade, and are fully equal in beauty to the work of the best professional dyer.

The color will not wash out in soapsuds and sunlight will not fade it. A ten cent package colors from one half to two pounds, according to the original color of the goods. Plain and explicit directions on the package make it easy for the most inexperienced to dye successfully with diamond dyes, thus saving the delay and expense of sending goods to the dye-house.

All the standard and fashionable colors are easily made with diamond dyes, and a new dress for ten cents is often the result of their use.

Real Estate Transfers.

OUR GOOD LAW.

That Much to the Credit of Kentucky's Lazy Legislature.

Under the new law all fur and feather game is given additional protection in Kentucky, while the quail, which is about all that is left, is especially provided for.

Under the bill, which has passed both Houses, and will quickly receive the approval of the Governor, it is made unlawful to trap, net or snare quail at any time, or to have them in possession or offer them for sale except during the shooting season, which is restricted to the two months of November and December.

We are under many obligations to R.
B. Lovel, the popular corner grocer, for a mess of smelts. It is a very rare and a most tempting dish, and for Mr. Lovel's thoughtfulness we say our thanks.

Scenes of Terror Depicted.

The stirring times of the French Revolution are to be vividly portrayed at the Washington Opera-house Saturday evening in Steele Mackaye's master drama, "Paul Kaurvar." The plot is an uncommonly good one, and the fearful extremes of the Reign of Terror furnish an abundance of exciting scenes.

The intrigues, thirst for blood of the sans-culottes, the public executions and all the other scenes of the French Revolution will be presented most realistically.
The guillotine scene where the executioner brandishes the head of his last victim, while another ascends the scaffold amidst the cheering and yelling of the collected mob, is a veritable triumph of modern realism, and is without doubt the best scene of the kind ever attempted on the stage. The company selected by Eugene Robinson to present this play is said to be an excellent one and special scenery and calcium light effects are a feature of the presentation. Jaxon Gordon as Paul, E. R. Spencer as Gourou, Esther Lyons as Diane.

At the prayer service last night at the
M. E. Church, South, Rev. H. G. Henderson made a very interesting talk on the subject, "Reality in Religion," drawn from the character of Stephen. All are invited to attend the services at 8 o'clock this afternoon and at 6:30 this evening.

A PECULIAR CASE.

A Man With a Fractured Skull Goes Ten Days Without Knowing It.

A local appeared in yesterday's LEDGER regarding an operation performed upon Thomas Warner, colored, of Washington by Dr. C. C. Owens.

Since the paper was published other facts regarding the case were brought to the reporter which makes the case indeed a most wonderful one.

On the 15th inst. Warner, in company with Walker Reed, were out having a time, when they had a few words.

In the excitement Reed struck Warner over the head with a small sack containing a half pint bottle of whisky.

At the time it happened only the stuor of the blow was felt by Warner, and nothing was thought of the matter at all.

It didn't seem to pain him, and he has been going along doing his work as usual, never dreaming that he had a fractured skull until Wednesday, when a blood vessel near the place where he was struck broke and the blood began flowing forth.

Then it was that Dr. Owens was sent for and made an examination, and imagine his surprise when he found the skull fractured.

With all medical skill the physician set about to relieve the dangerously injured man.

He trephined the skull, taking out a small section, and caught the flowing blood vessel and tied it with a string.

The operation was a most unique piece of surgery, and reflected much credit upon the popular young physician.

The attention of the physician was called too late to the injury, and it is feared that the delay will cost the man his life.

He is in a very feeble condition, and will hardly survive.

HERE'S A GOOD ONE.

Y. M. C. A. Man Peeps at Pretty Girls —Their Narrow Escape.

A special from Louisville tells of a hotel episode in that city.

F. L. Willis, State Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association for Alabama, may not have peeped over the transom at two young ladies disrobing, but they assert that he did, and thereby hangs an interesting story, for it caused quite a scene.

Mr. Willis is a prominent young man in Y. M. C. A. circles at Birmingham.

Misses Arnett and Maples are pretty young members of the "Wang" Opera Company.

They arrived at their room from the theater at 11 o'clock at night.

Shortly after a male guest, Mr. Willis, arrived and was assigned to the room adjoining the young ladies' bed chamber.

Suddenly the bell rang violently and the annunciator showed that the guests in 221 were badly in need of something.

A bellboy was dispatched with all haste to the scene.

He returned in a few minutes with both young ladies pale and trembling with excitement.

"There is a nasty, stinking, mean man in the room next to us, and we had started to disrobe, when suddenly I heard a peculiar noise, and, raising my eyes, was surprised to see the face of a man peering in through the transom. I said 'go away, you nasty, mean fellow,' but he wouldn't move, and then I threw my shoe at him.
But he wouldn't go away. Then I rang the bell, and some one did not come right away, so we put on our shoes and came down. We could not undress in the dark."

The clerk assured them that he would protect them at the cost of his life.

He led them back to their room and knocked upon the door of 222.

There was no response, and he knocked again.

Then a sleepy voice asked, "Who's there? What's the matter?"

"Come to the door immediately. I am the clerk, and want to see you."

He came, after a minute, and opened the door.

He was clad only in his nightshirt.

Rubbing his eyes, he slowly and sleepily said: "What do you want to wake a man at this time of night for?"

The clerk explained the situation at once, and told him in very forcible and emphatic English what he thought of his conduct.

"Horrors," he protested, "I won't stay here another minute. My reputation will be ruined. Sir, you do not know who I am."

All this time he was backing away from the door, and the clerk was following him in.

The guest went to his bed, raised one of the pillows, poked up his pocket-book and cardcase, and, handing his card to the clerk, said:

"There, sir, that is my name."

The card bore his name, and underneath the name was printed: "State Secretary, Y. M. C. A." of an adjacent state.

The clerk took the card to the young ladies, when one of them shocked him by saying:

"What a narrow escape. It is a wonder he did not break open the door."

And they reiterated their charge and demanded protection.

At the prayer service last night at the
M. E. Church, South, Rev. H. G. Henderson made a very interesting talk on the subject, "Reality in Religion," drawn from the character of Stephen. All are invited to attend the services at 8 o'clock this afternoon and at 6:30 this evening.
